CINCINNATI. Sept. 16.—They both wanted that at game. The Reds needed it to keep the lance of trade with them, and the New forks were eager to make the series an even livide. There was no certainty about the re sult until the rally of the New Yorks in the sult until the rally of the New Yorks in the sinth, and then they took advantage of an error to bat themselves into a reasonably safe sad. The Reds were always in the rear. Wild pitching and poor fielding kept them there, despite their efforts with the stick to recover. While Heds trampled on each other in trying to give runs the visitors made the Reds scratch gravel for all of them save two. After the whole outfit had a crack at Parrott he was led away. He had no idea of the location of the plate, and sent the first three men up to first mass on balls. Sullivan succeeded the monarch of the tack trust, but his presentation of gifts to ward and Davis would have cut no figure and Latham held Connor's high fly. It came own covered with mist and slipped out of his fingers.

THE LASCA'S GREAT FICTORY.

Mr. Brooks's Flyer Wins the Larchmon

A fair sailing breeze at the start, a bad squall, and a regular gale at the finish fur-nished plenty of sport on the Sound yesterday when the Larchmont Yacht Club held their annual schooner race. The race was for i handsome cup valued at $500, and while it did not bring out as large a fleet of boats as last year, still they made up in quality what they lacked in quantity. Certainly four better chooners than the Lason, Ariel, Emerald, and Dauntiess are not in commission to-day, and any regatta committee which can bring such a quartet of fivers together at this season of the year deserves credit.

Among those who witnessed the race were

C. Oliver Iselin, who has done so much for the success of the Vigilant; Newberry D. Thorne. Alex. Taylor, Augustin Monroe, Otto Sarony, Oliver Adams, and about every member of the Larchmont Club who could spare the time. The Cary Smith schooner Lasen, owned by John E Brooks, one of the members of the Colonia syndicate, won, and once more dem-onstrated the fact that she is the fastest twosticker affoat in any sort of a breeze. When the entries and allowances were announce just before the race. It was discovered that just four boats had complied with the condi-

The race, which was open to members of the New York, Eastern, Seawanhaka-Corinthian, Atlantic, New York Corinthian, American, New Haven, New Rochelle, Corinthian of Mar-blehead, Hull, New Bedford, Douglaston, Indian Harbor, and Riverside Yacht Clubs, was really intended to represent the schooner

dian Harbor, and Riverside Lacht Clous, was really intended to represent the schooner championship, and it is to be regretted that some of the Eastern yachts did not come around the cape to test their speed with the New York boats. All the boats sailed in one class, and there were no restrictions as to sails or crew, while the time allowances were figured on racing length, according to the rules of the club.

The Regatta Committee, which consisted of John F. Lovejoy, Otto Barony, and Gerard M. Barretto, lost little time in getting the boats away, and promptly at 11 o'clock the preparatory signal sounded. The rain, which had been coming down all the morning, ceased just before the start, and the indications showed that the sky would clear before long. The course was from the starting line off Larchmont to a stakeboat anchored off Eaton's Neck buoy, distance 15% nautical miles; thence to a stakeboat anchored off Hempstead harbor, 10% nautical miles; thence to the finish, 2% nautical miles. Total distance, 35% nautical miles.

or just 1:10:45 after she inassed Eaton's Neck. The others were so far behind that their times were not taken here. From here it was a close reach to the Hempstead mark, and as the wind had in the mean time increased to a good-sized blow the judges had some difficulty in arriving before Mr. Brooks's dandy 90-footer, which was flying along at a ten-knot clip under lower working canvas only. They rounded the Hempstead mark as follows: Lasca, 2:35:03: Ariel, 2:50:12: Dauntless, 2:59:25: Emerald, 3:00:30. Both the Ariel and Emerald had picked up a good deal on the Dauntless on the beat and reach, but the Lasca drew further and further away. Mr. Hill's schooner was now well in front of the Larchment flagship, while the Emerald was only a few seconds behind. Their elapsed times from Eaton's Neck to Hempstead were: Lasca, 2:03:23: Ariel, 2:06:47: Emerald, 2:15:47: Dauntless, 2:23:05.

All the boats lay down under the steadily incrensing gale on the short beat home, and there was very little of their keels left to view as they dashed across the finish line. The Emerald seemed particularly tender, and lay down to the larch weeks than one to think she was going to capsize. However, and lay a larch was the way a larch was down to capsize.

They fluished as follows: Lasea, 2:59:35; Ariel, 3:18:00: Emeraid, 3:33:33; Dauntiess, 3:53:44. Their elapsed times from Hempstead to the fluish were: Lasea, 24:32: Ariel, 27:48; Emeraid, 33:08; Dauntiess, 34:18. Summary:

The course was from an imaginary line between the committee's boat and Alum Bay pier, near the westend of the Isle of Wight, to and around the breakwater at Cherbourg. France, and return, about 124 miles. The starting gun was fired at 12:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The Britannia crossed the line three minutes ahead of the Navahoe. but, as it had been arranged that the vessels should get off as nearly together as possible. she was recalled for another start. When the second gun was fired the Navahoe led away. but she crossed the line only ten seconds in advance of the Britannia. The wind, which was very light from first to last during the race. came from the southwest at the start, but in the night shifted to the east. As the vessels passed out of sight, both were carrying their jackyard topsalis and jib topsalis as they con-tinued to do to the finish. The Channel was smooth.

Wires Cut Out of the Gravesend Course

The storm of Friday evening, augmented by yesterday morning's deluge, made the Graves end track heavy, and, of course, prevented a neeting between the great four-year-olds Lamplighter and Tammany in the First Special Stakes. The news, however, that the pair had been matched late on Friday evening for $2,500 aside and a stake of $5,000, the race to be decided at Guttenburg one week from Thursday next, and the distance to be a mile and a quarter, caused tongues to wag vigorously, and between now and that date a small fortune will be staked by enthusiastic admirers of the horses who cannot wait until the day of the race to wager their money. With Tammany out of the way, Lamplighter dis-posed of Cadmus cleverly and added $3,000 to the already picthoric bank roll of President G. Walbaum of Guttenburg. The race for the Clinton Stakes resulted in a most gratifying victory for Mr. Richard Croker's Red Banner. the $15,000 daughter of Iroquois showing her heels to Orchis, Charmion, and Martyrdom Red Banner did not thrive last spring, but after her long rest she has begun to grow and is coming to her speed very rapidly. As a two year-old she was practically invincible. Lamplighter was favorite, of course, for the First Special, as Cadmus was not able to make the brown horse gallop. The three-yearold has been sick more or less all summer, but he clung to Lamplighter for a mile. Then Taral, still with a stout hold of Lamplighter's head, drew away and won in a romp. Searly all the speculation on this race was from a time standpoint, 6 to 5 being laid that 2:11 would not be beaten, and 3 to 5 that the time would be slower than the figures given, 7 to 1 being an offer that the race would not be run being an off in 2:11 flat.

and Forerunner was always third or thereabouts.

The papers for the match between Tammany and Lamplighter were signed by Matt Byrnes, representing Marcus Daly, and G.
Walbaum late Friday night. Alex McKeever was the witness. The lour-year-olds will each carry 122 pounds and Garrison and Tarai will be the jockeys. If Guttenburg's track is at ta beat this pair of clinkers should run the distance in 2:05, or better. The hilltop course is one of the fastest in the world.

President P. J. Dwyer of the Brooklyn Jockey Club had the Western Union Telegraph Company remove all but its newspaper wire from the Gravesend course in order to prevent the Guttenburg pool rooms doing business on Gravesend events. The movement was successful yesterday. Summarles follow:

LONG SHOTS WIN ON THE HILL, Come Home at 100 to 1-Miss Bees Pays 10 to 1. Favorites and long shots divided the honors at Guttenburg yesterday. Notwithstanding the very heavy track, fine sport was seen by an unusually large throng of racegoers. Owing to the cutting of the wires at Gravesend. the bookmakers doing business on the Gravesend races had to turn their attention to Gloucester. It was only after the fifth race had been run that the results of the first race at Gravesend were posted. Azrael spread-eagled her field in the opening race and won from start to finish. Lemon Blossom got the place from Strathmaid. A few lucky ones got as good as 100 to 1 against the winner in the second race, a sixfurlong dash for two-year-olds. Come Home won with 20 to 1 against him as they went to the post. Sunglimpse beat Clarus for second money.

Wampezo, odds on favorite in the third race, won by five lengths from Brazos, St. Anthony a bad third.

Miss Bess, a 10 to 1 shot, was the good thing in the fifth race. Balance and Miss Bess made a driving finish. Miss Bess won by a head. Balance got second money by four lengths from Panitzen.

Dalsyrian and My Gyps were about equally fancied in the sixth race. It was an easy victory for Dalsyrian, who took his field in tow at the start, and won as he pleased, with Indigo second and Foxglove third.

Jockey Van heuren rode Riot so unsatisfactorily in the third race that Judge Burke ruled him off, and the jockey was escorted to the gate by a policeman. The committee held an investigation immediately after the last race, and the conclusion arrived at was that the Arizona Stables, the owners of Riot, were in no way to blame for the jockey's trickery.
